The Intelligencer is delivered by carrier in the city.
Look at the printed label on your paper. The date thereon shows when the subscription expires. Notice date and label carefully, and if not correct please notify us at once.

Subscribers desiring the address of their paper changed, will please state in their communication both the old and new addresses.

To insure prompt delivery, complaints of non-delivery in the city of Anderson should be made to the Circulation Department before 9 a. m. and a copy will be sent at once.

All checks and drafts should be drawn to The Anderson Intelligencer.

ADVERTISING

Rates will be furnished on application. No advertising discontinued except on written order.

The Intelligencer will publish brief and rational letters on subjects of general interest when they are accompanied by the names and addresses of the authors and are not of a defamatory nature. Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Rejected manuscripts will not be returned.

In order to avoid delays on account of personal absence, letters to the Intelligencer intended for publication should not be addressed to any individual connected with the paper, but simply to The Intelligencer.

SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1916.

Lost opportunities come daily with the old maid of 1916.

Pranks and planks will feature the G. O. P. meet in Chicago.

We are thinking seriously of adjourning to the swimming pool.

The fable of a newspaper man—he is survived by a large estate.

With onions and buttermilk plentiful there's no excuse for insomnia.

Thank goodness they have decided to give us a rest in the Brandeis case.

We'll remember Fort Duhamel and Hill 304 when the rest has been forgotten.

What has become of the old-fashioned milk maid the birds used to rave about?

We heard a man complaining yesterday about it being hot. Likely as not he has never been to Columbia.

Five Packs are said to be involved in the New York murder case. That seems to be straining the measure a little.

These rainbow colored dresses the women are wearing nowadays help to keep things cool. One can imagine there has been a shower.

The paragraph has gotten this far along in the day's grind with a tone of put only word. Liberal beads, though, are being scattered about his desk.

Georgia will be forming a press association soon. The old state is so dry now that the scribers will be afraid to pull a big one unless they are all together.

Hunting Villa reminds us of the story of the Irishman and the flea with apologies to the flea, however, for this comparison. Farm and factory—Parish could tell you something about the flea part.

We note a labor in Sandersville, Ga. has the nerve to announce to its subscribers an advance in subscription rates of 50 cents per annum, making $1.50 all told. The price of ink and paper is enough to drive the publishers to even more drastic action than that.

COUNTRY CREDIT ASSURED

There has been some opposition to rural credit legislation in large cities, which have no practical concern with the problem. There has been far less in the smaller cities where the matter is better understood, and none at all in strictly rural communities where the lack of reasonable borrowing facilities is a constant menace to the prosperity of the population.

Congress has probably represented the sentiment of the country pretty accurately in the impressive majorities it has given the pending rural credit bills. The Glass bill passed the House by a vote of 295 to 10. A measure similar in nature but less liberal in its provisions has passed the senate. There ought to be little difficulty in adjusting the difference in conference, and most of the differences might be well adjusted in favor of the House measure.

The senate bill would limit loans on land to 50 per cent of its value, taking no account of improvements; the house bill would allow 60 per cent loans on the land and 20 per cent on the value of permanent improvements. The senate bill requires unanimous consent of a loan committee in appraising a farm; the House bill requires only a majority report. The Senate makes the minimum loan $200; the house bill reduces it to $100. The senate requires advance payments on the principal in units of $100; the House makes the unit $25.

In all these respects the house measure provides for a more democratic and effective distribution of credit, and is therefore preferable, as long as the basic principles of safe lending are maintained. The enactment of such a measure will extend better credit facilities to a population extending over two-thirds of the country's area where the prevalent interest rates average 10 per cent or more. It will enable the American farmer to finance his food-producing business on terms a little nearer those which his European and Egyptian competitors enjoy.

THE WOOL FAMINE

Clothes are going up—because wool is going up. The sheep ranges of the world have never produced enough to clothe the 500,000,000 of us who wear woolen garments. And now the millions of soldiers in the trenches, who must have warm clothing, are leaving little for the rest of us. It is estimated that the armies are now wearing out as much wool as is grown in Australia, New Zealand, South America and South Africa together, as fast as the sheep can grow it. And where that leaves us may be seen from the fact that we don't produce normally more than three-fifths of our consumption.

We have been importing great quantities of raw wool, but not for keeps. We have already sent abroad nearly 100,000,000 pounds of it in blankets, not to mention all the millions of yards of cloth, sweaters, suits of underwear, shirts, socks, etc., that have gone to Europe.

It means prosperity for our wool-growers. It means thinner and poorer and more expensive clothing for most of us. It means a vast increase in the use of shoddy—wool used for the second time, or even the third or fourth time, woven with a little new wool. And it means that if you succeed in getting next winter's suit without any shoddy in it, you will have to pay several dollars more than usual.

LINE O' DOPE

"Some seem to be under the impression that I have decided not to enter the race for the office of county superintendent of education," stated Mr. A. W. Meredith, yesterday. "However, this is a mistake. I am in the race and will continue to be in it."

Dr. W. H. Frazier has returned from Lafayette, Ala. where he delivered an address at the commencement exercises of Lafayette college.

"The farmers of the county are no longer blue but are now feeling good and are hopeful about their crops," stated Mr. E. P. Vandiver yesterday. Mr. Vandiver is one of the most widely known men in the county, and comes in contact with people from all sections. He added that the cotton was coming up now and that the hot sunshine was working wonders with it.

"When the Key Store room is remodeled and the main building rebuilt, I will have lived on the Square long enough to see new buildings replace the old ones, or new fronts added to every structure around the Square," stated Mr. W. R. Osborne yesterday. Mr. Osborne has been connected with business interest around public square about as long as any man in Anderson.

The friends of Dr. R. G. Witherspoon stated that the condition of Mr. L. O. Robinson, who has been seriously ill at his home just across the line in Abbeville county, was no better.

Mr. F. A. Carter has purchased from Mr. C. E. Cooley a lot on Calhoun street near Mr. John M. Davis' home and will erect a home near there.

"Speaking of rye, Mr. E. C. Friereson at Belton and Mr. R. E. Ligon of this county have some of the finest I have ever seen and about the best the county is producing this season," stated Mr. S. M. Byars yesterday. "Mr. Friereson's measures six feet and five inches. Mr. Ligon's is down at the Gluck mill and he will save it for seed."

Dr. John E. White will preach two especially interesting sermons tomorrow at the First Baptist church, the first being at the morning service when the subject will be, "The Kingdom First." The second will be at the evening service, the subject being, "How Souls are Lost."

STATE NEWS

Newberry College. Newberry, May 26.—Invitations have been issued to the commencement exercises of Newberry college, which begin June 3rd with the Sophomore declamation contest and closes June 7th with the graduating exercises of the Senior class. The college circles, as well as the community at large, are looking forward with pleasant anticipation to this annual event, which brings many visitors to Newberry and proves a very delightful occasion for them and for the home people.

Spartanburg Court. Spartanburg, May 26.—Several murder cases will probably be tried in the court of general sessions, which opens in this city Monday, June 12, with Judge Thomas S. Sease presiding. Among them will be the case of the state vs. Thomas Taylor, who is charged with the murder of Henry McAbee, which occurred in this city in April, and the case of T. H. Option, of Greer, charged with killing LeFoy Sims. Upton was arraigned at the last term of the common pleas court, but a mistrial resulted. The case of M. S. Turner, who, according to his own statement, killed a negro, Duff Mills, while discharging his duty as an officer of the law, will also probably be taken up.

According to Mr. Turner's statement and the statement of witnesses Duff Mills attacked him when he went as a constable to arrest the negro on a charge of disposing of goods under mortgage. The coroner's jury, at the inquest over the body of Mills, recommended that Turner be exonerated.

A Butter Record. Spartanburg, May 26.—The high water mark in the production of butter for one day at the local creamery was reached yesterday when a total of 693 pounds were produced. The record of production for the first month will probably double the amount at first anticipated and still further increases are anticipated for June.

The heavy amount of butter now being produced is due to the ability of the creamery to receive supplies of cream from new routes, one of which has been organized toward Woodruff.

Early in June the new route from Laurens will supply large quantities of cream. Union county is interested in the creamery and routes are being organized now. The Owens and Fountain Inn routes will send their cream here, beginning June 15.

J. W. Holder Killed. Union, May 26.—Mr. J. W. Holder was thrown from the tender of a work train near Valdosta, Ga., Thursday and fallen, was caught under a derailed flat car that was overturned. His body was caught under the falling car, but the car rolled on, releasing his body. He was able to get up and walk a short distance, but died shortly afterwards from internal injuries.

The body was brought to Union Sunday and buried at Duck Pond, four miles north of Union.

of the hotel June 1 have been completed. From all indications this resort will experience the coming summer the best season it has ever known. Hundreds of inquiries from all sections of the Carolinas, Louisiana and Tennessee have been received and quite a number of reservations are made for opening date. The hotel has accommodated a number of guests since May 15.

A Fish Story. Georgetown, May 26.—A new record has just been made off this port in bass fishing that will interest the bass fishermen of Charleston and cause them some uneasiness, perhaps. J. R. Stau, of this city, has landed, with rod and reel, the largest bass of which there is any record. His fish weighs forty-eight pounds, is forty-seven inches long and twenty-eight and one-half inches in girth. The fish was caught off the south jetty. It required three-quarters of an hour to land him, and it was necessary to pull in the anchor. The tackle used comes within the requirements of the contest. Mr. Stau has the fish at Congdon's fish house, and it is attracting large crowds of fishermen.

That York Adair. Columbia, May 26.—A letter has been received from George W. Brunson, first vice president of the South Carolina State Press association, stating that he will be unable to be present and sending his best wishes from New York, where he is engaged in a new work as an advertising specialist. Mr. Brunson spared no pains or expenses to make the members have a good time when they were at Chick Springs and he will be missed at the meeting in York. The meeting will be held June 7 to 10.

George Pierce Browne, publisher of the Anderson Daily Mail, writes a breezy and characteristic letter in which he says, "Put me down for a scholar. May go by way of Columbia and join the gang there."

Among the old guard to attend the press convention will be N. G. Osteen of Sumter, who will be present with his daughter, Miss Moutta Osteen, who has been a favorite with the members of the association. Mr. Osteen began the printing business in Columbia half a century ago. The Osteen family is one of the best known in newspaper circles in the south. H. G. Osteen, a son, is the publisher of the Sumter Daily Item.

Nothing has yet been heard from Dr. W. P. Jacobs, founder of Thornwell orphanage. For some years Dr. Jacobs has been chaplain of the association. He is a native of York (ville.) The association will not feel that it has met unless Dr. Jacobs is there.

24 Survivors. Bonifacio, Corica, May 26.—Twenty-four survivors of the crew of the Spanish steamer Aurora, sunk by a submarine, arrived here in two small boats.
